MAKING ROOM FOR PERSONALITY

Press Release
September 2017

- Three colourful personalities – three unique homes -

Montana is launching a new catalogue inviting readers into three personal and unique homes belonging to Sara Lysgaard, a young passionate art collector, Jacob Termansen a famous photographer and world traveller and Ingeborg Wolf, a film and fashion stylist.

Art collector and investor, Sara Lysgaard.

“A home is like a story. The walls serve as a canvas.”

Sara's home is light and feminine. The obvious colour choice would be white but you will only find colour contrasts that are bold and striking at the same time as they are calm and balanced. The colours have been selection with great attention and span from light blues over powder shades to grass green and a dusty blue grey. By the staircase a small and very decorative sideboard, ADORN, in Lemon Drop lights up the grey-blue walls. In the bedroom, a READ bookcase in Zen Red forms a contrast to the powder shades of the walls and is a great backdrop for the colourful art pieces on display. In the office, a Kyoto Blue NOTE offers a two-in-one solution including storage space and table.

Photographer and world traveller, Jacob Termansen

“I am constantly travelling the world. My home is part of my journey.”

Jacob's home is an extrovert and eclectic exhibition of art, crafts, books and souvenirs. It is a home always full of family and friends visiting, having a great time together. In the kitchen, a China Red RISE tall display cabinet is placed against a plum coloured wall. In the sittingroom, a composition of three small STAY side tables with glass tops is placed in front of a collection of Jacob's art. In the office, a COMPILE display shelf in Kyoto Blue keeps track of books as well as art. Finally, in a small DREAM nightstand in Boulevard adorns the guest room.

Film and fashion stylist, Ingeborg Wolf.

“Home is to me a very simple thing. It’s the story of who I am – told in the language of form, colour and space!”

Ingeborg’s home is a stylish and sharp New York inspired apartment. Black, white and grey dominate the colour palette. Order, structure and simplicity characterize the style of the apartment and Ingeborg’s personal style. In the living room an ARCHIVE cabinet with drawers in Anthracite is framed by a beautiful niche in warm grey. In the corridor, a KEEP in Black stores her jewellery, perfume and other small treasures. In the children’s room, the creative composition WAVE in Fjord adorns the wall. The storage display PLAY on wheels is perfect for toys. In the kitchen, a PORTRAY display cabinet in Coffee keeps track of plates and glasses for nice table settings.
